25X1 1. . A railroad order concerning operations on the reconstructed railroad bridge west of Rathenow (R 53/2 15) shows that the temporary bridge has been replaced by a permanent structure, which has made it possible to suspend all speed restrictions on the new bridge, which was opened on 20 December 1950.*

25X1 * ☐ Comment The bridge, which is about 150 meters long, is located on the Berlin-Stendal railroad line, an important eastwest route. The second track of the line has been dismantled.
